CATALOGUE NO: KINTER

Inter-War Europe 1918 – 1939: Politics, Policies and the descent into the Second World War

Introduction

1918 – 1939, a much – documented but still little understood period in modern European and, indeed, human history.

The charged atmosphere created by the dichotomous circumstances of ongoing peace negotiations and administrations and fermenting German aggressive Military action, has given rise to a large body of analytical historical literature, much of it contained in the enclosed catalogue.

Subject Index:

- U.S. Military Governments
