Political Leadership In Two World Wars - Biographies & Memoirs

Introduction

Many of the enclosed biographies & memoirs are quite forthright and unrestrained. They throw light on a number of aspects of both the political and social conditions of the time. They have, as such, contributed a great deal to our better understanding of the period in general and the more specific interpretation of the ongoing effects of the events of the time. Items of specific note included Trevor Roper's excavations of the Hitler persona and William Shirer's Berlin Diary.

Subject Index:

- Paul Baudouin
- Cordell Hull
- Pierre Laval
- The Kaiser
- Von Hassell's Diary
