Walter Savage Landor. London & New York: Frederick Warne & Co, 1891. Elaborate Pictorial Brown Cloth. Stamped in Gilt, Silver & Black. With Upwards of One Hundred and Fifty Illustrations Coloured Plages and Four Maps.

Volume 1 & 2.

A very nice set of this scarce work.

"Send me a young man, preferably an officer in the army, well acquainted with the art of drawing maps" , with this letter from Gessi Pasha began Captain Casati's ten year adventure in Africa. During his years there he experienced imprisonment, a sentence to death and a daring escape. He also was well known among such African luminaries of the day as Emin Pasha and Henry Stanley. This account, taken from his manuscripts and letters, was somewhat late in publication because his early paper had been stolen by King Chua and had to be rewritten from memory and because Casati remained in Africa for some time to nurse the ailing Pasha. A memorable and historically valuable addition to the African genre.

SHCHEDROV, STUKOV, ZELMA & ROGOV. Fighting Vietnam. Novosti Press Agency Publishing House, 1965. p.b..

This book is an authentic report on the fate of the Vietnamese people, their valiant struggle for freedom and independence. The photographs, taken by Vietnamese, Soviet, French, American, German, and Other Correspondents, show the crimes committed by American Imperialism in Vietnam in the course of its dirty war against that freedom-loving nation. The photographs accuse the invaders, call on us to say "no!" To imperialist aggression, to the armed intervention of the USA against the courageous people of Vietnam. One cannot keep silent, one cannot stand aloof when blood is being spilt next door, when efforts are being made to fetter liberty, to mow it down with bullets!. Stock No. : 188388. €5.00

The Belles Heures is one of the celebrated Books of Hours created in the second decade of the fifteenth century for Jean, Duc de Berry, son of King John the Good and brother of Charles V and Philip the Bold of Burgundy.

This beautifully illuminated book, almost certainly executed by the Limbourg brothers, who were responsible for the "Tres Riches Heures" of Chantilly, ranks among the great masterpieces of the Middle Ages.

The 32 facsimile pages now reproduced are flawlessly printed in gold and colour in the same size as the originals; and perfectly convey the exquisite, jewel-like quality of the coloured scenes depicted. Stock No. : 182061. €98.00

In September, 1945, when the fate of Hitler was perplexing everyone, an Oxford historian was appointed to find and examine all available evidence, and his report was the basis of an official statement in November, 1945.

MILTON, JOHN.

We can offer the following interesting letter:

Milton's Paradise Regained; Publishers and Editor Fall Out

Dunster, Charles. Fine autograph letter signed to Cadell and Davies with regard to Dunster's edition of Paradise Regained, which they had published. 2 pages 4to with integral address leaf. Approximately 450 words. Not dated but sent in 1799. 'If I have at times misapprehended you, - you certainly seem decided to misconceive me. - Indeed I thought the extinction of the sales of my publications might be partly owing to my own supineness, and expecting you to take a zealous part in forwarding the vending of my property; which perhaps you never do in that of any, but what is entirely your own. - Under this idea I wrote my last letter; for I certainly thought myself very materially ill-treated by you, when I saw your names to the Pirated Note - Edition 'til it was explained to me how your names might be there, without your being necessarily promoters of the work. - In my last, (on referring to it,) I believe you will not find that I accuse you of extinguishing the sale of my publications; or that I have said a single word tending to asperse your characters. The object of my letter was to clear up all misconceptions, from a sincere wish to have continued all my Publications in your hands; and from a cordial disposition to have taken part in the new Milton., of which you are proprietors, and this without a view to any profit, but from a real zeal to see a requisite edition of our Great Poet.

Having said this much with respect to the real purpose of my last letter; I have to add, that I now give up all hope of misconceptions being cleared up between us while you consider that "The Publishers of the Milton's Par. [Paradise] Regained, printed by Bensley, I have done no more by me than I have done by Bp. Newton." On the whole I consider your answer, as the result of your never having even considered my first state of the injury done me; or paid any attention to my letter of last week.

I will therefore trouble you no further on the same subjects; and will immediately make an arrangement for the future sale of my Publications, and will discharge your account when I take them out of your hands, which shall be done without loss of time. That your account was not discharged some months ago is your own fault, by not answering my letter of the 29th of June, which I continually expected you to do...'

Together with two printed receipts, signed by Charles Dunster in acknowledgment of subscriptions of a guinea for his edi. Stock No. : 186943. €1250.00

SOLZHENITSYN, ALEKSANDR I. The Gulag Archipelago 1918-1956 Volumes 1 - 3.

An Experiment In Literary Investigation. Harper & Row Publishers, New York, Evanston, San Francisco, London, 1973/1975/1978. Very good copies, firm binding, clean texts, minor wear to dust jackets.

8vo. Volumes 1 - 2 translated from the Russian by Thomas P. Whitney. Volume 3 translated by Harry Willetts.

Volume 1, Parts I-II: contains translator's notes, glossary, index and illustrations. "The 'Archipelago' of Mr Solzhenitsyn's work is the network of secret police installations, camps, prisons, transit centers, communications facilities, transportation systems and espionage organizations which, in his view, honeycombs the length and breadth of the Soviet Union" - from dust jacket. Volume 2, parts III-IV contains translator's notes, glossary, notes and illustrations. This volume covers what the author calls the 'destructive-labor camps' and the fate of the prisoners in them, felling timber, building canals & railroads, mining gold, all without adequate food or clothing or equipment, and subject always to the whims of the camp authorities. Most tragic of all is the life of the women prisoners and of the luckless children they bear. Volume 3, parts V-VII contains notes, glossary, index, and illustrations. "In this final volume...Solzhenitsyn's epic narrative moves to its astounding and unforeseen climax. We now see that this great cathedral of a book not only commemorates those massed victims but celebrates the unquenched spirit of resistance which flickered and then burst into flame even in Stalin's 'special camps'. Solzhenitsyn also reviews for us the experience of internal exile for those, like himself, who had been released from the labor camps but not from surveillance" - from dust jacket. Stock No. : 201864. €175.00

Mr. Lowell calls this unusual collection of poetry "a book of versions and free translations". His intention is not to make a literal rendering of a poem written in another tongue, but to try to create from the original a poem which is successful in English. At times there are wide departures from the originals, yet he usually stays quite close. Though they are "imitations" the imitator is unmistakably Robert Lowell. Stock No. : 183031. €65.00

WHEATLEY, DENNIS. Presents A New Era In Crime Fiction. A Murder Mystery Planned by J.G. Links - Murder Off Miami. Hutchinson & Co, n.d.. Loosely Ribbon Bound As Per Original (Unusual).

Cablegrams, original handwritten documents, photographs, police reports, criminal records and even actual clues in the form of human hair, a piece of blood-stained curtain, etc. are all contained in this folder, each in its correct order as received at police headquarters, thereby forming the complete Dossier of a crime.

The mystery is presented to the public in exactly the same sequence as that in which it was unravelled by the investigating officer, without any extraneous or misleading matter; photographs of living people taking the place of the descriptions of characters which appear in an ordinary detective novel. Clues to the identity of the murderer are scattered liberally through the investigating officer's reports, and are also to be found in the photographs..

AUSTRALIAN CONSCRIPTION VOTE 1916. Special Appeal by Women to Women. Manifesto Australian Women's Peace Army. Conscription. Vote No.

Manifesto -Australian Women's Peace Army Conscription. N.P., 1916. Leaflet. 2pp. Women of AUSTRALIA! On October 28 we shall have laid upon us the greatest responsibility and the greatest privilege that could be placed upon the women of any country.

For the first time in history, the people of a whole nation are being asked whether they shall declare their allegiance to the force of Might or the force of Right.

And so we ask you to be true to your womanhood and, with your vote, bring to the State the same gifts that you bring to your homes, the gifts of order, of beauty, of forbearance, of harmony, of love. The nations are dying for lack of these gifts from women. Give them freely, give them gladly, but GIVE THEM YOU CANNOT IF YOU VOTE FOR CONSCRIPTION. Therefore Vote NO.. Stock No. : 188663. €95.00

CENTRAL COMMITTEE OF WOMEN'S CHURCH WORK. 1909-1918. N.P.. Full Vellum. Good.

We the undersigned members of the Central Committee of Women's Church Work, desire to place on record our deep sense of appreciation of Mrs. Montgomery's devoted work on behalf of the Committee as its first Secretary.

From its foundation, nine years ago, in which Mrs. Montgomery was closely concerned, she has served it with unflagging energy, keenness, and true faithfulness. It is our hope that while the Secretaryship will have passed into other hands, we may still rely upon Mrs. Montgomery's help and support during the difficult years that lie ahead. "Where there is no vision, the people perish". It is just this width of vision, for which we have learned to look in Mrs. Montgomery, that has given the uplift and inspiration to our work together. Stock No. : 192283. €75.00
